

The Observer

32 | IN FOCUS Education

VIEW FROM ABROAD

'My family came over and they are supportive of me'

ED PLATTS
Prague College,
Czech Republic

In the Czech Republic, fees are a third of those paid by students in England. Platts, from Hull, is planning to be debt-free once he completes his BA in international business management at Prague College. "It is a lot cheaper and the living costs are smaller as well," he said. "My course is in English, so that is not a problem and I have accommodation in the centre of Prague." There are about 90 nationalities at the college, and a handful of Britons. Platts added: "My family came over and they are supportive about me being here."

